Eat My Tail is the first in the series, with two more original novels set to follow.

As a doomsday cult attempts to hijack an onyx sarcophagus being delivered to the Museum of Natural History, it cracks open. Rather than something ghastly, a tiny, ectoplasmic worm is released, which slips down the nearest drain. Its spiking PKE readings alert the OG Ghostbusters – but as they near the museum, 79th Street itself rears up before them, serpent-like, then dives below. With part of the street gone, the Ecto-1 plummets into the subway line. They give chase, only to run into the Extreme Ghostbusters, brought by similar events in their own reality. Apparently, this Class VII entity is crossing both time and dimensions. Why? It needs the extra room...

Ghostbusters is experiencing a massive resurgence in popularity since the female-lead reboot released in 2016. A new Ghostbusters movie, directed by Jason Reitman (son of the original director Ivan Reitman), is set for release by Sony in July 2020.

Hollywood - even the supernatural side of it - has closed its doors to her. That is, until a mysterious new producer appears with a job offer that seems too good to be true. Pity Lee can't stand the sight of him. But beggars can't be choosers, and soon Lee is in New Orleans, working stunts on a horror movie like no other - with a cast and crew of werecats, crocodile-men, and an artistically frustrated ghoul. But before she even arrives on set, Lee's demon-killing legacy as Lilith's descendant draws her into a whole new mystery, and a desperate fight for survival.

'There's excellent world-building here... whether it's obnoxious starlets, sleazy directors or loveable character actors, each new addition is vividly drawn.' Sci Fi Now (on The Spawn of Lilith)

'If you like kick-ass female protagonists and snarky humour, then I cannot recommend this enough.' Geek Pride (on The Spawn of Lilith)

THE SPAWN OF LILITH

DANA FREDSTI
AVAILABLE, Fantasy, 400PP

Out of the spotlight, in the darker corners of the studio backlots, Hollywood hides a remarkable secret. Actor or actress, set designer, electrician, best boy, or grip - in la-la land, it pays not to be human. Vampires, succubae, trolls, elementals, goblins - studios hire anyone and anything that can take direction, be discreet, and not eat the extras. (The less you know about your agent, the better)

Though only human, stuntwoman and struggling actress Lee Striga is a member of the legendary Katz Stunt Crew. They're the best in the biz, in part because they can fly, and boast superhuman strength. When Lee lands a job on the movie Pale Dreamer, however, not everyone is following the script. It's up to her to figure out who – or what – is killing the cast and crew. Especially when Lee goes from stuntwoman to lead role... and the next target.

DANA FREDSTI is the author of the Ashley Parker Plague Town trilogy, as well as a producer, director, and screenplay writer for stage and film. She was the co-writer/associate producer on Urban Rescuers, which won Best Documentary at the 2003 Valley Film Festival in Los Angeles.

SHATTER WAR

DANA FREDSTI & DAVID FITZGERALD

SEPTEMBER 2019, Sci-Fi, 336PP

Following the success of the post-apocalyptic Time Shards, comes the time-travelling sequel and the race against the clock to repair time itself..

Earth's timeline has shattered in 'the Event', creating a frightening new world of prehistoric monsters, lost cultures and strange futuristic perils. A ragtag band of survivors from different points throughout history have joined "Merlin," a mysterious figure who may be their only hope to save the world – if he is who he claims to be. When their 23rd century ship the Vanuatu is sabotaged by an unknown enemy and thrown far off its course, the team must solve a dangerous new mystery, even as they are split apart and fighting to survive in a war-torn Shard World...

'A fresh take on the concept of time travel... The book explores the concept that time travel is linear, which means that there's no timey wimey, wibbly wobbly nonsense here. After all, do you think H.G Wells and James Cameron really cared about the butterfly effect or the grandfather paradox? Exactly. And neither should you. Some wonderful storytelling...' Mass Movement (on Time Shards)

TIME SHARDS

DANA FREDSTI & DAVID FITZGERALD

AVAILABLE, Sci-Fi, 448PP

It's called 'the Event.' An unimaginable cataclysm in the 23rd century shatters 600 years of the Earth's timeline into jumbled fragments. Our world is gone: instantly replaced by a new one made of shattered remnants of the past, present and future, all existing alongside one another in a nightmare patchwork of different time 'shards' – some hundreds of miles long and others no more than a few feet across.

San Diego native Amber Richardson is stranded on a tiny fragment of 21st century Britain surrounded by a Pleistocene wilderness. She crosses paths with Cam, a young warrior of a tribe from Roman Britannia, and together they struggle to survive – only to be imprisoned by Cromwellian soldiers. One of their captives is a man who Amber calls 'Merlin', and who claims to be the 23rd century scientist responsible for the Event. Together they must escape and locate Merlin's ship before the damage to the timeline is irreparable.

As much a thriller as a genre novel, Time Shards propels the reader forward to uncover the truth behind the cataclysmic Event before time is shattered once and for all.

THE RIFT

NINA ALLAN

AVAILABLE, Sci-Fi, 432PP

Selena and Julie are sisters. As children they were closest companions, but as they grow towards maturity, a rift develops between them.

Selena has an impossible choice to make: does she dismiss her sister as a damaged person, the victim of delusions, or believe her; and risk her own sanity in the process? Is Julie really who she says she is, and if she isn't, what does she have to gain by claiming her sister's identity?

THE SYNAPSE SEQUENCE

DANIEL GODFREY

JUNE 2018, Sci-Fi, 384PP

In the near future, everyday life is dictated by algorithms, from who gets a bank loan or a job, to what supermarkets sell and which news stories you read. Even policing is run by AIs, who track patterns and predict where crimes are likely to occur.

Anna Glover joins a start-up company that hopes to revolutionise solving crimes by combining the memories of witnesses into a virtual reality simulator that can be explored by an investigator. Her first case is that of a fostered teenage boy put in a coma by a brutal assault, and she begins to explore his memories, the only witness to the crime. But when the boy's sister disappears and Anna's own actions are called into question, it becomes clear that there are other motives in play, and there are those who do not want her to succeed...

DANIEL GODFREY has had several short stories published in My Weekly and Writers' Forum, and is a dedicated reader of SF and historical fiction. New Pompeii was his debut novel.

NEW POMPEII

DANIEL GODFREY

AVAILABLE, Sci-Fi, 464PP

Jurassic Park meets Gladiator in this stunning debut. Classic time-travel Sci-Fi with an extraordinary alternate history twist, reminiscent of Crichton's Timeline and Christopher Priest's The Adjacent.

Sometime in the near future, energy giant NovusCorp has developed technology which can transport objects and people from the past to the present day. The company's biggest secret is that they have moved the lost population of Pompeii to a replica city, hidden deep in central Asia. For post-grad historian Nick Houghton, the chance to study these real Romans is incredible. But he soon realises that although the Romans are ignorant of modern technology (for now) they are far from easy captives. Pompeii city boss Marcus Barbatus wasn't appointed by the emperor because he was soft. The Romans carved out the biggest empire the world had ever seen, thanks to the uncompromising leadership of men like Barbatus. The stage is set for the ultimate clash of cultures...

'An intriguing spin on the Westworld/Jurassic Park template, this debut marks Godfrey out as an author to watch.' Financial Times Books of the Year

EMPIRE OF TIME

DANIEL GODFREY

AVAILABLE, Sci-Fi, 464PP

Fifteen years on from the events of New Pompeii, and New Rome is cut off from the rest of the world in a new Cold War. The Romans, lead by Calpurnia, have control of the time travel technology, which keeps western governments at bay. But the public at large know nothing of this, and are eager for action to destroy New Rome, a place where slavery and deadly gladiatorial combat flourish.

Meanwhile Calpurnia is fending off threats to her control over her people, aided by Decimus Horatius Pullus, the man who was once Nick Houghton... Has Nick truly embraced the Roman way of life? Can the Romans harness the power of time travel or will the new world destroy them?

Classic time-travel sci-fi with an extraordinary alternate history twist.

Will appeal to fans of Michael Crichton, Robert Harris, Ken Grimwood and Harry Turtledove.

'This fast-moving techno-thriller series reads like a reincarnation of Michael Crichton at his best.' Barnes & Noble Sci-Fi/Fantasy Blog

Janet Moodie has spent years as a death row appeals attorney. Overworked and recently widowed, she's had her fill of hopeless cases, and is determined that this will be her last. Her client is Marion 'Andy' Hardy, convicted along with his brother Emory of the rape and murder of two women. The brothers were tried separately, and Emory received a life sentence, while Andy got the death penalty, labeled the ringleader despite his low IQ and Emory's dominant personality.

Convinced that Andy's previous lawyers have missed mitigating evidence that would have spared him the death penalty, Janet investigates Andy's past, revealing a sordid and damaging upbringing, a series of errors on the part of his previous council, and most worrying of all, the possibility that there is far more to the Hardy family than was first thought. Andy may be guilty, but of what?

It is up to Janet to discover just what was done and by whom, and to determine whether to risk putting her client on trial again...

MORIARTY: THE HOUND OF D'URBERVILLES

KIM NEWMAN, AVAILABLE, Crime, 496PP

Imagine the twisted evil twins of Holmes and Watson and you have the dangerous duo of Professor James Moriarty – wily, snake-like, fiercely intelligent, unpredictable – and Colonel Sebastian 'Basher' Moran – violent, politically incorrect, debauched. Together they run London crime, owning police and criminals alike, and unravel mysteries, all for their own gain.

'It's witty, often hilarious stuff. The author portrays the scurrilous flipside of Holmes's civil ordered world, pokes fun at "guest stars" from contemporary novels and ventures into more outré territory than Conan Doyle even dared.' Financial Times

'Kim Newman has done something really audacious with Conan Doyle's criminal genius... The notion of reinventing Moriarty and Moran as malign doppelgangers of Holmes and Watson may have been done before, but not with the firecracker exuberance that Newman brings to it.' The Independent
